

It was stated at the district attorney's office that, as a result of investigations made into the labor troubles, at least three employers of labor will be prosecuted on charges of extortion. It is claimed these men aided Parks in his demand on other contractors, profiting by the interference with their rivals' business.

WARM WEATHER IMPROVED CROP

TOBACCO DID WELL THE FIRST OF WEEK.

HARVEST IS NOW WELL BEGUN

The Cool Summer Gives Relief from the Usual Severe Fall Storms.

The warmer weather of the first of the week has proved the tobacco prospects throughout Wisconsin. A good growth is being maintained in all the undeveloped fields, while the warm days assisted in the ripening in a most satisfactory manner. The harvest is so well started that it has now almost become general, and what is needed to insure a full crop is three or possibly four weeks' immunity from frost, which is doubtful. One compensating result of the cool summer is that it has given relief from hail storms as less damage from this source is recorded than for many years. The tobacco that is now being harvested is going into curing sheds of the average size and in sound condition.

Wisconsin Loses Four Points

The agricultural department has issued a table showing the condition of the growing tobacco on August 1st, based on percentages. The figures relating to the cigar leaf states show that the crop has lost ground slightly since July 1, the average condition for the United States on Aug. 1 being 82.9 as compared with 85.1 a month ago. The losses and gains in the cigar leaf districts have been various and widely distributed. Connecticut shows a notable decline of five points due to the unfavorable weather and especially the excessive rainfall. The New York crop is stationary, while that of Pennsylvania shows a gain of three points. The Georgia crop made a substantial gain of eight points, while that of Florida has declined three points. As compared with the corresponding date a year ago, the Connecticut crop has neither gained or lost, while that of New York has gained six points, and Pennsylvania two points. Georgia shows an improvement of no less than twenty points, and Florida of eighteen points—the most notable in the table. Ohio is six points below last year's standard, and Wisconsin shows a loss of four points.

General tobacco conditions throughout New England have made considerable improvements during the past few weeks. While early set tobacco is very uneven and somewhat backward, reports indicate that the late set tobacco has not made a large growth, a full number of leaves are reported on the plants so that the yield per acre is not likely to be much reduced. Fields have been remarkably free from insect pests. Many growers state that they have not seen a worm all the year. Toppling has been finished by many growers and in a few sections harvesting is under way.

"Two weeks in a canvas boat" is the title of an article printed in the Sunday Milwaukee Sentinel written by L. J. Paetow and R. F. Scholtz and telling their experiences of a real badger outing. On passing through Stoughton they registered at the Hutson house. Of their trip from Indian Ford up the Yahara to Madison they have this to say:

"We entered the ill defined and narrower channel of the Yahara with some misgivings, looking back with regret at the graceful sweeps of the Rock. Soon one of our old acquaintances of the Oconomowoc, a barbed wire fence, confirmed our first impressions. But these barbed wire fences, ten in all, were comparatively easy since they could be lifted up high enough to let us slip underneath."

"Within an hour we reached Fulton. Only a moonlight graveyard experience can compare with the lonely, empty, haunting sensation which crept over us as we stole, almost on tiptoe, through the forsaken streets, past houses with doors and shutters closed, so gray and weather beaten that they looked like unsubstantial structures of ashes. We hurriedly ported our boat under an old mill race and made away. Four more miles up the winding stream brought us to the old water wheel and dam. It was 1 o'clock and the motion to get out for a Sunday dinner prevailed by an unanimous vote. We found that we had stopped at Mr. Sayre's villa. Mr. Sayre is an old settler in these regions, his home since 1848. Hospitable, cheerful, frank, with open heart and hand, a man who loves the fireside and fireside stories, a royal entertainer, he succeeded in making us feel perfectly at home in a surprisingly short time, while Mrs. Sayre was equally successful in supply the "inner" wants of man."

"Our schedule compelled us to break short our pleasant stay, but not without another stock of Indian stories, and reminiscences of pioneer life—how Maj. Dodge pursued Black Hawk on his retreat to the land of the Winnebagoes; how they crossed the river at Indian Ford; how the redmen once paddled down the Yahara to gather wild rice on Lake Koshkonong and how Fulton had once been boomed as the coming town, but owing to its failure to get the railroad had slowly fallen into ruin."

"Next station, Stebbinsville. Soon the water became so shallow that two of us had to get out and walk. Still less water and still more stones! Finally even the rower was obliged to get out and wade, and drag the boat behind him against the fast current. We painfully passed Stebbinsville and tried to push on to Dunkirk, but night caught us amid the rocks."

"It was Sunday evening. We had difficulty in securing lodging and at length at 9 o'clock were thankful for the privilege of sleeping in the barn of Farmer Boyle, who, be it said to his credit, did his best to make us comfortable. "After a hearty breakfast with the Boyles we waded through the remainder of the shallows to Dunkirk, ported its dam, and after that had open water to the thriving little city of Stoughton. Between Stoughton and Lake Kegonsa the Yahara, for the most part, winds like a snake through wide stretches of marsh. We had some difficulty in finding the inlets, but the afternoon trip through the lake of Madison was one of pure enjoyment. We reached that city at 6 o'clock in the evening on Monday, after just one week of travel. We spent Tuesday in Madison visiting friends, and getting our boat Kilbourn."

ROCK RIVER IS RISING VERY FAST

It is Now Nearly at the High Water
Mark of the Early Summer.

Rock river has begun to rise again and is already two or three inches nearer the record high water mark of this summer. The increased pressure has become evident from the greater amount of water leaking through the coffer dam at the Janesville Electric company's new plant. If there has been much rain northward it is thought that there may be some trouble at this point, as the work has already been delayed considerably by the high water. The embankment of dirt which is to serve as a dam to hold back the water from below where the old wheelhouse was located has begun to leak considerably and yesterday over ten feet of timbers, of the same size as the temporary dam is constructed of, have been sunk along this part to hold back the river.

HAIL TO HICKS. WEATHER PROPHET

St. Louis Man Hit It Right—Once
More in the Prognostications.

Hats off to Rev. Ira Hicks. The Milwaukee weather prognosticator should bow before the eccentric old forecaster of St. Louis. The Louisiana purchase city man said the month of August would be cold throughout. The Cream City bureau issued a bulletin Tuesday to the effect that a hot wave would strike Janesville and southern Wisconsin Wednesday afternoon—not a mere summer streak of warmth, but a spell of torridity that would cause prostrations and great distress. The bulletin said the coolness might prevail even into the afternoon of Wednesday, but then the mercury would soar and people sweater.

Rev. Hicks was correct. People relied on the report from the beer-town bureau and were disappointed when they were obliged to start fires and don winter clothing yesterday. At Washburn observatory at Madison the highest temperature recorded was 68 degrees, and that was before the scheduled time of the first prostrations. The lowest temperature was 58, registered at the hour when the fall of night would have slightly cooled the scorching day, had the Milwaukee forecaster been accurate.

The rain was heavy. According to the observatory measurement 1.15 inches fell in the last 24 hours. The Milwaukee man has authorized that his forecast be modified and sends out the flowing explanation of why his hot wave did not arrive on time: Milwaukee Explanation "Because of the slow progress of the area of high pressure moving eastward along the Canadian border, up north, and a corresponding slow movement of a depression on the eastern slope of the Rock mountains, the warm wave that was expected to reach southern Wisconsin Thursday afternoon has been considerably delayed. The high pressure is moving towards Lake Superior and is expected to result in brisk northeast winds with probable thunder storms and showers following it its wake."

FOI A LA FOLLETTE TO GO ON STAGE

Daughter of Wisconsin's Governor
Will Be a Real, True
Actress.

Miss Fola La Follette, the oldest daughter of Governor and Mrs. Robert La Follette, who desires to go on the stage, is said to be taking up almost as much of her father's time as is the speech on freight rates that he is preparing for the Rock county agricultural fairs. There is no reason to believe that the governor or his wife is unalterably opposed to the desire of their talented daughter, but the settlement of the question whether it would be wise to allow her to seek honors on the dramatic stage has not been reached in the executive household.

Miss La Follette is a blonde and has attended the University of Wisconsin for three years, pursuing the elvish historical course. She is exceedingly popular, but is disinclined to indulge much in the functions of town and gown society. She has never joined a sorority, though often asked to do so, nor has she participated to a large extent in elaborate balls and receptions. She has taken part extensively in university and town dramatics and has achieved marked success. She made a decided hit in "A Scrap of Paper," as leading woman, and another success was scored in "A Russian Honeymoon" in which she appeared here July 9th last.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Clark of Menominee, Mich., are occupying the Conant homestead at 165 North High street. Mrs. Edward Welch will make her home with them.

Gossip For Railroad Men From
All Over the United States.

North-Western Road. Notice has been received of an agreement which has been reached for the movement of range stock from the city of St. Paul to the Union stock yards, Chicago, on a basis of 24 hours. The St. Paul has been handling the bulk of this business for the past three years and the North-Western is said to have obtained it at this time by offering a shorter time basis. Wisconsin division crews handling trains of range stock from Janesville will be allowed 5 hours to 40th street, Chicago, and trains from Harvard, 3 hours to 40th street. Two hours are allowed from 40th street to the Union stock yards.

Operator James J. Rush, formerly of Barrington, called on Operator F. J. Wells last night. The latter is night man at the Y.D. tower.

Engineer A. L. Wilcox of the Northern Wisconsin division reported for work this morning.

R. H. Erdman, engineer on the way-freight on the Janesville and Fond du Lac division, is enjoying a few days' vacation.

W. A. Webb, engineer of the Wisconsin division, who has been visiting here for a few days past, returned to Chicago this morning.

Conductor Kelgher is relieving P. H. Galligan on the Minnesota time freight.

St. Paul Road. The excursion to the Darlington fair which was to have been run over the St. Paul at 7:30 this morning was abandoned on account of the inclement weather. The rain is said to have prevented the opening of the fair yesterday. If the sun shines the special will be run tomorrow.

Engineer Schlicker will lay off a week, commencing today. With Mrs. Schlicker he will visit in Milwaukee.

Neal McVicar, machinist at the St. Paul roundhouse, left last night for Rockford to complete some work to which he has been assigned.

A carload of Angora goats from Mexico, consigned to Bridgeport, attracted considerable attention at the St. Paul yards this morning. When herded with cattle, these goats are said to prevent disease and this is believed to be the purpose for which they were imported. The wool is also said to command a high price in the markets and the flesh is frequently substituted for spring lamb.

W. W. Winton, division passenger agent for the Milwaukee road, was at the depot this morning.

George K. Thompson, travelling passenger agent for the Pennsylvania lines, was in the city last night.

SCHEME TO STOP STRINGENCY

Secretary Shaw Will Use $40,000,000
If Occasion Shall Require.

Washington, Aug. 28.—The statement is made at the treasury department that Secretary Shaw, in anticipation of a possible money stringency this fall when the movement of crops begins, has set aside $40,000,000, which will be immediately available in case of emergency for the relief of the market. This amount or any part of it can be at any moment placed on deposit in national banks, provided they have the necessary government bonds to offer as security. The secretary, of course, will be the judge of the situation and will make use of these funds only when he has become convinced that the financial interests of the country demand their employment.

FRATERNAL ORDER HELD A PICNIC

Knights of Columbus to the Number of Six Hundred, Gather at Yost's Park.

Threatening weather caused postponement of the leaving hour for the Knights of Columbus yesterday, but in the afternoon the members of the order, their families and their friends began to make the trip. The attendance numbered between six hundred and seven hundred. There was no sparring or musical program, the afternoon being given up to the athletic contests and to dancing. Janesville won the tug of war between Janesville and Beloit, and the ball game was also a victory for Janesville.

"SYRIAN KING" IS KILLED IN SYRIA

Telegraphic reports from Madison say that Alexander Francis, who held a position as policeman in the basement of the capitol and who returned to his home in Syria about three months ago with his wife in order that she might collect some money which had fallen due to her, is reported to have murdered her, which so enraged his neighbors that he was hanged and burned. Francis was a peddler and was known in Madison as king of the Syrians. He got the position in the capitol through his influence with local Syrians and Italians. He lived in Madison about ten years and was 40 years old.

BY AIRSHIP TO THE NORTH POLE

McDonnell and Frederick Expect to Make Trip Next Year.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 28.—"If Sergeant Julius R. Frederick recovers from his present illness we will sail to the north pole next year," said P. T. McDonnell of Chicago, who is at the Frederick home in this city. Sergeant Frederick is a survivor of the Greeley north pole expedition and is in a critical condition. Mr. McDonnell, who has been working with Frederick in the latter's plans to make a dash for the north pole by using an airship, will remain at the Frederick home until there is a change in the sergeant's condition.

NEWS OF A PERSONAL NATURE

Miss Mary Gage has returned from a visit in Milwaukee.

Joseph J. Leary and wife of Edgerton were in the city yesterday.

Edward Bingham of Koshkonong visited in the city yesterday.

Miss Wade of Brockton, Mass., returned to her home yesterday after spending several days as the guest of Miss Kate Field.

George Sullivan has been called to this city by the illness of his mother. He left four years ago to go to Colorado Springs, Colorado.

George Sennett, clerk at Baker's drug store, is spending his vacation at the Monroe, Darlington, and Milwaukee fairs.

C. H. Weirick, county register of deeds, has returned from Lake Kegonsa. He will not break camp for several days.

W. M. Jones, proprietor of the Jones house, Oconomowoc, returned to his home yesterday after a visit at the Oak Lawn home of his sister, Mrs. C. Griswold.

Michael Hayes has returned from Marcellus, Ill., where the Hayes Bros. are interested in a large grading contract. Completion of the work is expected by the first of December.

FARMERS MUST HAVE LICENSES

Except for Hunting Rabbits, They Must Pay Their Dollar.

A great many hunters are laboring under a wrong impression. The farmers of the state have been under the misconception that they were allowed by the new law to hunt without a license. This is true only with respect to rabbits and squirrels and confined to the premises of each particular farmer. As the game laws are being circulated by Warden Overbeck and the county clerks, the farmers are learning that it is necessary for them to take out a license as it was last year, if they desire to shoot on any land other than their own and if they desire to hunt anything other than rabbits and squirrels.

Instructions have been sent out by State Fish and Game Warden Overbeck to the deputy wardens to take lists of all persons who secured licenses a year ago and see that all who hunt take out the required license. Under the statutes the minimum fine for a person hunting without a license is $50, which together with court costs and the loss of the hunting outfit, guns, dogs and other paraphernalia, would make the average penalty nearly $100, more than enough to pay for the license for a man's natural life time.

PLAY CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Warm Contest Will Take Place at Yost Park Sunday.

The ball game at Yost's park Sunday afternoon between the Bass Creek nine and the Clinton Maroons will be one of the hottest fought contests of the season. Clinton so far has lost but three games in nineteen but have beaten every team with whom they have played a series of three games. Bass Creek has won fifteen out of sixteen games which is a hard record to beat. The Imperial band will furnish the music.

TWO MEN ARE ELECTROCUTED

Death at Peoria Caused by Grounding of Current.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 28.—Daniel Connell, aged 42, and Clyde Livingston, aged 16, were both instantly killed in this city. In some manner a portion of the electric light system of the city became "grounded" during a storm. Connell attempted to turn on an electric light in a saloon in the lower end of the city and was instantly killed. Livingston met his death in a similar manner at the residence of his parents, about three blocks distant from where Connell was killed. Several other persons were severely shocked before the system was repaired.

Coming Attractions.

With one of the biggest successes of recent years as an attraction, the regular season at the Myers Grand opens this evening. The great military comic opera that enjoyed all last season, a phenomenally successful engagement at the big New York Theatre, N. Y., will be seen here. "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" F. C. Whitney's new offering was written by Stanislaus Stange and Julian Edwards, author of "Dolly Varden" and has been conceded to be the first real American comic opera ever written.

As Alan Dale said in the New York American the day after "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" was first produced at the New York theatre where it ran all last year to crowded houses, the success of the comic opera was not a matter of opinion. It was a most emphatic fact.

All last winter "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" created a positive sensation and proved a boom to the theatre goers of New York where it played for the entire season at the New York theatre, patriotism ran rife. It was a nightly occurrence for men and women to rise in their seats and cheer the stirring music of the opera in which the composer, Mr. Julian Edwards, has introduced every patriotic song or sweet southern melody ever written. The Whitney Opera company is big-considered the very best means to cover the ground in the time required. It is for this reason that the Harvard University football team named their best and surest play of the season of 1902 the "Empire State Express" for they believed it to be the most reliable play in their programme. It was successful throughout the season until it met Yale's "20th Century Limited" play, which was just as swift, safe, and sure, but had longer endurance and was "limited" only by the size of the field. The names of the rival teams very correctly describe the difference in the famous trains, the "Empire State" running only from New York to Buffalo, while the "20th Century Limited" makes the 980 miles between New York and Chicago in twenty hours every day of the year. Great is the New York Central and great are the trains it operates—swift, safe and reliable. From the Brooklyn Standard-Union.

Mr. Rendel and son Harold have returned to Chicago, the former spent his vacation at Mr. Craig's and the latter with Mrs. Randall.

Miss Maude Winston of Evansville is visiting her friend Carrie Rye.

Miss Effie Keith is assisting Mrs.

Kate and Cordelia in "When Johnny Comes Marching Home"

ger and better than ever before and includes such well known and popular lyric artists as: Lucille Saunders, Wm. T. Carleton, Maurice Darcey, Julia Gifford, J. Francis, Albert McGuckin, W. C. Wood, Florence Quin and a large chorus.

Stanislaus Stange wrote the book and Julian Edwards the music. They are the authors of that other enormously successful Whitney comic opera, "Dolly Varden". The music is of the early Sullivan character, finely, jovial and full of cute phrases. It catches the ear and tangles there. Manager F. C. Whitney has selected a very large and unusually evenly balanced company. The chorus thoroughly supports the fine work of the principals.

Many have asked, Why is "Quincy Adams Sawyer" called the best New England play ever written? The answer has invariably been, "Because it's different from any other play of its class." But why is it different? Oh, everything is so natural, the people are just like the people you always see in the country, the scenery is just as real as anything, is the reply.

The coming of Beach & Bowers' minstrels under canvas on Sept. 3rd, is heralded with pleasure. It's now the oldest minstrel company on the road under one continuous management and we are fortunate in getting a performance from them. It will furnish more fun and entertainment than any show of its kind. This season is all new, original and funny. The singing is as perfect as is heard in the very best of opera companies. The specialties cannot be beaten and are decidedly laughable and intensely interesting, as Beach & Bowers have an array of talent that places their company in the van of minstrelsy. The minstrel boys are young, active and up-to-date, and seem untiring in their efforts to please; and they arouse the spectators to the highest pitch of enthusiasm.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville, Daily Gazette, Friday, August 28, 1863.—The Hon. N. P. Tallmadge gives in his address to the war democracy.

If it will relieve the anxiety of the "Monitor," we are authorized to state that Mr. Mattoon's visit to Janesville is purely of a private business character. Mr. M., came from Washington here, but he heard nothing of the Monitor or its proprietors there, and he knows very little of the local politics of Wisconsin, and careless, although he has the feeling common to all union-loving men, of seeing the copperhead democracy prostrated at the coming election.

Proceedings of the council at regular meeting Thursday evening, August 27, 1863. The select committee on filling and grading River street, west side, of the raceway, reported in favor of declaring the raceway a nuisance. Report adopted. The claim of J. W. Plato for $84 for attending to the general interests of the city was reported to the council by the finance committee without action, and referred to the judiciary committee. The mayor called attention to the necessity of ascertaining the number of volunteers in this city, in order to have the proper credit in the coming draft, and the council authorized him to employ some proper person to make a list of those furnished by the city.

"THEY ALL HAVE THEIR LITTLE HAMMERS OUT"

Traveling Men Says City is Full of Knockers—Worse than an Epidemic of Smallpox.

"Yes sir, this city is chock full of people who invariably get out their hammers at the first opportunity and make a business of knocking. Two-thirds of the population are knockers," said a traveling man at the Myers house yesterday. The reporter heard him say that this was his second visit to the city, having come here from the east and the above was in answer to the plump question: "What do you think of Janesville?"

Empire State Express in Foot-ball The New York Central's Empire State Express is recognized as the swiftest and surest train operated by America's greatest railroad, and men are scattered in their fastness throughout the border counties, and are still being hunted by all the available troops from all parts of this district. Many of them have abandoned their worn-out horses and taken to the brush about. They were all remounted at Lawrence with horses captured there, leading their own back packed with stolen goods.

Burning of Lawrence, Kansas—

From the Leavenworth Bulletin, August 22.—Yesterday, the 21st of August, about 4:30 o'clock, the citizens of Lawrence were surprised to hear a body of cavalry ride rapidly towards the river. The citizens, startled by the noise, rushed into the streets to ascertain the cause. Many of the citizens were then shot down. With the quickness of lightning the news spread over town that the accused Quantrel, with his bushwhackers was in town. The few who heroically ran out with their guns were quickly murdered. Every safe was burst open, when they could not get the key. Well informed persons think they took three hundred thousand dollars in cash along with them—about seven o'clock they set fire to the court house.

Col. Bragg, of the 6th Wisconsin was among the speakers at an immense Union meeting at Crestline, Ohio, on the 22d inst.

A GREAT TRUTH.

How It Has Spread From Home to Home in Janesville

In every part of Janesville; in the homes of the wealthy, in the humble abode of the man of toil, 'tis now a well-known fact—a great truth—that Doan's Kidney Pills have brought more comfort to backache sufferers and cured more sick kidneys than any medicine of modern times.

Mr. H. P. Hanson of 103 Pleasant St., engineer employed at the Janesville Machine Co., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did me all the good that could be expected and I recommend them to any one who may be troubled with lame back or any kidney disorder. After procuring them at the People's Drug Store I took them and felt better, sleep better, my back did not ache like it did, and I did not rise in the morning with a lame and sore back. I suffered from these symptoms for four or five years and I was more than pleased at the results obtained from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers; price 50 cents. Foster—Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's and take no other.

"The most perfect of all foods"

SHREDDED WHEAT BISCUIT

WHOLE

Your grandfather lived on natural foods—his bones were strong, his muscle good—he was a perfect physical man.

Makes the best toast because it is a network of shreds—each shred being highly porous—thus permitting an even and thorough application of heat. As cream toast or with a poached egg it is never "soggy."

Being a natural food it has perfect affinity with all fruits and vegetables, and served with preserves, jelly, honey or maple syrup, makes a palate-charming dessert. Shredded Wheat is the only naturally porous food made from wheat.

Fresh from our ovens daily. Sold by all grocers.

IS HE AFRAID?

Is "The Reformer" afraid to enter into a debate? Is he frightened at the prospect of having a plain statement of facts as they really exist told to the audience he addresses by a man who knows? It would appear so, frequently he has made a boast that no one had disputed his statements as to the true conditions of affairs in the legislature. Never again can he do this. Either through the blundering of his private secretary John Hannan, or through his own fear of entering a debate where his eloquence would not over balance the truth he has refused to meet Senator Whitehead in open debate at the Evansville fair next Thursday. The consequence of such a debate as Senator Whitehead offered him was too much for even the Reformer Bob. He dare not risk it and so his private secretary offered instead, through the fair management, that Friday be given over to Whitehead and Levi Bancroft to talk all they liked on the subject.

The correspondence that was carried on between Senator Whitehead and secretary Gillies of the Evansville fair association is interesting. It shows that the LaFollette element and the backers of the cohorts of Bob were afraid to risk the chance of the people learning what a lot of misrepresentations his speech really is. They stepped into the trap dug for them as unsuspectingly as though they feared nothing. They did not see that the whole speech of the governor, which he has delivered east and west and which has sullied the name of the good state of Wisconsin and placed it as ranking on a level with Missouri and other boodle communities would be repudiated by their own effort to escape debate which would prove so disastrous to their cause. It is a blow that will undo all the efforts of the game warden and all inspectors of the past summer at one fell swoop. The mere sentence "The Governor was afraid to meet Whitehead in a debate" should show how weak all his arguments are and how little reliance can be placed in the statements of Wisconsin's governor.

The letters that passed between Senator Whitehead and the fair management are interesting. On Monday Senator Whitehead wrote the following letter to Mr. W. E. Campbell, president of the Evansville fair, Evansville, Wis.—Dear Sir: From your posters, I learn that on Sept. 3rd, at your fair, an address is to be given by Gov. LaFollette. I do not know what his subject will be, but from common report I am led to believe that he will make the same address which has been recently made in a number of places, both within and without the state.

"In this address, he has assailed the Wisconsin legislatures of 1901 and 1903. If, at your fair, to be held in the 22nd senatorial district, which I have had the honor to represent in those two legislatures, the governor speaks of these legislatures as he has spoken of them elsewhere, I shall ask to be heard then and there, not as a matter of favor to me, but for the sake of the truth, which my constituents are entitled and which I wish them to know about the men whom the governor inveighs against, and about the political and legislative events, of which he presents an unjust and distorted view.

"I shall be glad to hear from you by Wednesday next that my request will be granted. Yours truly,
 JOHN M. WHITEHEAD."

This was answered by a telephone message from Mr. Gillies secretary of the fair association on Wednesday. Meanwhile he had conferred with the executive chamber at Madison and had probably been instructed to say what he did. That the debate proposed for Thursday could not be arranged for but that Friday if Senator Whitehead liked, a man would be sent from Madison who would debate with him. The reply was short and direct that if Mr. Gillies had anything to say in answer to Mr. Whitehead's letter he could place it in writing. Later the following letter arrived:

 "Evansville, Wis., Aug. 26, '03—Hon. John M. Whitehead, Janesville, Wis.—Dear Sir: Yours of the 24th at hand, and in reply to your request to be allowed to answer Gov. LaFollette at our fair, will say that the governor comes as our guest at our invitation, and we felt that we had better not invite you to speak at that time unless agreeable to the governor. Mr. LaFollette has gone east, and his private secretary answered for him and said it would be agreeable to the governor to have you come the next day, and requested that Levi H. Bancroft be invited by the fair association to be given as much time as yourself, and suggested that you open with forty-five minutes, Bancroft to follow with one hour, you to follow with ten minutes, and Bancroft five minutes to close, or reverse the order and give him the opening and you to follow. Gov. LaFollette speaks at 4 o'clock, and, if you were there to answer him, he would doubtless hold the crowd as long as they cared to stay and would give you no time to reply.
 "Hoping you will realize our position, and will accede to the terms, we remain, yours, W. W. GILLIES, Secretary."

To this Senator Whitehead replied Janesville, Wis., Aug. 26.—To Mr. W. W. Gillies, secretary Evansville Fair—Dear Sir: Your favor of the 26th inst., answering my letter of the 24th, to Mr. Campbell, president of your fair, reached me this morning by the hand of Mr. Richmond.

My request for a hearing at your fair related to the address to be given there by the governor on the 3rd prox., provided that the address were the same that he is now repeating from place to place. I did not ask for a debate nor for a division of time with Mr. Levi H. Bancroft, or with an one else, on the 4th prox., or any other day.

It did not escape my attention that the governor will come to your fair as your guest on your invitation and I would not mar the hospitality which you are to extend to the chief executive of our state; but I deny that the statements and representations about Wisconsin legislatures, which the governor makes with such reckless disregard of the facts, are such as are to be covered by the shield of hospitality. Moreover the governor iterates and reiterates with more and more vehemence that his utterances have never been replied to. When, therefore, it was announced that the governor would speak at your fair I applied to your president, and not to the governor's private secretary, for an opportunity in the presence of my own constituents to state the facts relating to the subject matter of the governor's address as I know them to be. Your respectfully,
 John M. Whitehead.

It is an interesting collection of letters. A collection that would do well to be framed and hung in every home where the shattered idol LaFollette exists. This with the expose of the LaFollette methods to debauch the Dane county fair into a political meeting place have not added glory to the cause of LaFollette or his followers.

DANE COUNTY.

The fair is no place for political pow wows. The farmers do not want them nor do their city friends enjoy them. A bitter partisan or factional speech is as out of place at a county fair as would be a dog fight in a Sunday school.

In accordance with a custom that has been followed for some years, the Dane County Agricultural society has invited the governor to deliver an address next week. There are plenty of subjects on which interesting remarks may be made outside of politics.

Gov. Hoard never failed to please with his store of information about practical dairying, intermingled with a dozen or so good stories. Gov. Rusk and the other good men who have occupied the executive chair always were eagerly listened to by farmers and their city cousins and made neighbors forget whether they were republicans, democrats, or prohibitionists.

Thus, a circular is being sent out: DON'T FAIL TO HEAR GOV. R. M. LA FOLLETTE AT THE DANE COUNTY FAIR.

"The governor will speak upon questions in which you have a vital interest," etc.

Now, how is this sent out?—as a pure county fair proposition? Is it sent out as a honest republican appeal, or even as transparent factional manifesto? No; it's the old story. It's a continuation of the shifty methods that have made "LaFolletteism" distasteful to Dane county men who best know it at close range.

The circular is enclosed with a personal letter thus:

"Headquarters Republican County committee, Dane county. Officers—Ell Pederson, chairman; Ernest N. Warner, secretary; William Holms, treasurer. Executive committee—Chris. Legried, Cambridge; Henry Huber, Stoughton; John W. Green, Middleton; John T. King, Madison; Chas. G. Riley, Madison.

"Madison, Wis., Aug. 25, '03—Dear Sir: Inclosed you will find several notices giving the date and hour for the governor's speech at the Dane county fair. Will you please see that these are posted in prominent places in your vicinity at once, and I trust that you will do what you can to advertise the event in every way. Yours very truly, "Ell Pederson."

Vice President Dane County Fair. What a mixing up of pumpkins and politics! What right has Ell Pederson, the republican, to use his title as vice president of the county fair to push along a republican letter head and accompanying proposition? Talk about the evils of "machine politics" who ever equaled R. M. LaFollette and his boy lawyers in system, trickery, cunning, indirection?

And Ernest Warner and others of the boys are hustling day and night mailing the combination appeal—using the machinery of the county fair to promote LaFolletteism.—Wisconsin State Journal.

PANIC APPEARS AROUND OLD VESUVIUS AT PRESENT

Volcano Grows More Dangerous and Lava Pours in Torrents...

Rome, Aug. 28.—Mount Vesuvius is still active, and the torrent of lava is increasing, and now threatens the wire rope railway and observatory. Carabineers are trying to quell the panic among the residents of villages nearby.

Several fissures near the crater are enlarging, some towards Naples being thirty-five feet wide. The police and carabinieri exercise a close watch to prevent tourists approaching the dangerous spot.

Only Prof. Matteucci, director of the observatory, is allowed inside the prescribed limits. He has made important observations from Mount Somma, the nearest point to the scene of the eruption. The government has ordered the telegraph offices in the villages around Mount Vesuvius to be kept open all night, so as to be ready to send out alarms should this be necessary.

FIFTH WARDERS PAY HIGH TAXES

SECOND WARD HAS SMALLEST TAX RATE IN THE CITY.

THIRD PAYS GREATEST TOTAL

Tax Rolls for 1903 Have Been Completed, and Taxes May Be Paid Without Delay.

Second ward residents pay the lowest taxes in Janesville this year, the rate in that part of the city being $11.30 on $1,000. This is explained as being due to the fact that both the Janesville Water company and the New Gaslight company have their offices in that ward, and therefore benefit that ward in the tax levy although their systems extend over the entire city. Fifth warders pay higher taxes by nearly $1 on $1,000, the rate being $12.27 on $1,000.

Tax List Completed
City Clerk Badger has completed the tax list for the year, and tomorrow morning City Treasurer Fathens will open his books for the payment of taxes. The total amount of the tax roll for this year is $104,580.58, an overrun of the tax levy, which amounted to $104,575.13, of only $5.45.

By wards the tax is as follows:
First ward $26,629.88
Second ward 19,046.99
Third ward 23,436.46
Fourth ward 19,106.16
Fifth ward 11,362.09

Ward Tax Rates
In the different wards the tax rate on property assessed at $1,000 is as follows:
First ward $11.40
Second ward 11.30
Third ward 11.53
Fourth ward 11.63
Fifth ward 12.27

Made Up Time
In completing the tax roll the city clerk gained on the schedule time considerably. At the outset of their work the assessors were thirty days late, due to the delay in the office of the secretary of state, but the roll was completed only eight days behind the prescribed time.

HORSE FRIGHTENED BY A LUMBER PILE

Building Material on North Jackson
Street Caused Commotion

This Morning.
A horse driven by John George took fright this morning at some building material piled in the street near the city hall, and shied so suddenly as to come in contact with a dray belonging to the Shurtliff factory. The buggy pitched to the horse's side, but the horse succeeded in continuing its flight, colliding with another rig on Wall street. The horse then turned and was brought to a halt near the Congregational church.

John Falter
The funeral of John Falter was held from St. Mary's church this morning at nine o'clock, the Reverend Father Goebel officiating. The service was extremely impressive and the floral tributes were many and very beautiful. The pallbearers were John Kneff, Alex. Buchholz, K. Knudson, J. Swanke, C. E. Pierce, and Mr. Yorg. Interment was in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Leo Downs
Little Leo Downs, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Downs, 54 Washington street, died at the home of his parents at one o'clock this afternoon. For the past six weeks he had been ill with pneumonia, suffering patiently. The funeral notice will be given later.

STATE NOTES

A fraternity home for all the fraternal and benevolent orders of the city is projected for Green Bay, and representatives of various orders will meet to consider plans.

Mias Jessie Little and Mrs. Dissel of Fond du Lac fell from a sidewalk into a deep ditch filled with water from recent rains, and only prompt rescue saved their lives.

The legality of imposing a tax on St. Joseph's academy, conducted by Catholic sisters in Green Bay, and at which tuition is charged, will be tested before the tax is paid.

The primary object of the Wisconsin State Optical society, which is meeting at La Crosse, is to secure legislation to create a state board of examiners to license opticians.

The Glenwood Tribune has been sold to E. T. Yates and M. S. Hull of Washburn, and the latter has assumed charge. C. J. Augustin, the retiring publisher, will go into the real estate business.

J. K. Cochran of Mercer, Pa., a civil engineer, aged 22 years, while employed in clearing up the recent wreck on the North-Western road near Fond du Lac, jumped from a wrecking train at a crossing and was severely injured about the head and face.

Chas. Levy who now makes Chicago his home is in the city in the interest of the Golden Eagle Clothing House.

IT WAS NOT HER TRAIN, AFTER ALL

Lady Had a Very Narrow Escape at the St. Paul Station This Morning.

This morning at the St. Paul depot as the train from Mineral Point which was standing in front of the station started out to switch back on the second track, a lady thinking it was the Milwaukee train leaving, rushed for the front platform of the last coach and endeavored to get aboard with a heavy suitcase. As the train was already moving with some speed her position was dangerous and by the intervention of a conductor, who happened to be standing near, what might have been a serious accident was narrowly averted. It was explained to her that the train she endeavored to catch, was not the one for Milwaukee.

Of Daily Occurrence
A scene of this kind is enacted every morning at the St. Paul station, which while amusing at times, becomes tiring to the railroad men who are around the platform when the bunch of trains arrives shortly after ten o'clock, and is apt to result in accidents. Travelers going to Madison, Milwaukee and northern points who expect to leave on the train which comes from Chicago at ten-thirty-five, congregate on the platform and when the first train from the south pulls in at the depot, about ten thirty, they all invariably make a rush for the coaches, thinking it to be the train that is to carry them on their way, while in reality, it is the local train from Mineral Point and does not leave the station, but simply pulls out from in front of the depot and runs on the second track. This local train always comes in before the Chicago train yet the same mistake is made every morning.

D. RYAN WON THE FOOT RACE
Dennis Hayes Outdone In Hot Contest at Yost's Park.

One of the hottest races at the Knights of Columbus picnic yesterday was won by Daniel Ryan in a foot race with Dennis Hayes. The latter bet Mr. Ryan two to one that he could outdo him. Jack McVicar was appointed judge. Mr. Hayes fell down at a critical point in the race, and Mr. Ryan made a magnificent finish. In a similar race between Auctioneer Dooley and Alderman Schmideley, Mr. Dooley measured his length on the ground and Mr. Schmideley won a victory.

BADGER EDITORS' ANNUAL OUTING

WILL HAVE EXCURSION TO WASH-INGTON SOON.

TRIP OCCUPIES EIGHT DAYS

Special Car Chartered from B. & O.
Railroad for the Occasion.

The annual excursion of the Wisconsin Press association will be held late in the season, commencing October 25 and finishing November 1. The trip will be made to Washington and down the Chesapeake bay. Arrangements have been made with the steamship company plying on the bay.

Outline of the Trip
Leaving Chicago on the morning of the 25th or 26th of October, the next forenoon a brief stop will be made at Harpers Ferry, where will be seen the monument of John Brown and the tablets describing the battle fought. Dinner at Washington and less than an hour's ride further brings the excursionists to Baltimore where a few hours will be spent until 6 o'clock when one of the large ocean steamers will be boarded for a trip down the Chesapeake bay. Supper will be served on the boat, also breakfast the next morning.

At Old Point Comfort
Arriving at Newport News at 7 in the morning, points of interest in that vicinity will be visited, trolley cars being taken to Old Point Comfort, a visit to the soldiers' home, the big ship yard, Fortress Monroe, supposed to be one of the most impregnable forts in the world, and those who desire can cross the river to the navy yard at Norfolk. A steamer will be taken at 6 p. m. for Baltimore, arriving at 7 a. m. Breakfast will be taken in Baltimore and at 10 o'clock the train will depart for Washington, where headquarters will be established for three days at one of the leading hotels.

In the National Capital
The itinerary in Washington will include seeing the city on observation cars, with guides to explain all objects of interest, visits to the congressional library, the capitol, national museum, Smithsonian institute, agricultural department, bureau of engraving, government printing office, Washington monument, Concoran art gallery, botanical gardens, navy yard, white house and other points of interest. It is expected that a reception with the president can be arranged.

Side Trips of Interest
Side trips will include a steamboat ride down the Potomac river to Marshall hall, also to Mount Vernon, the home and tomb of Washington. Alexandria, Va., will be visited, the old church where Washington and Lee worshipped, the Masonic lodge over which Washington presided. Electric cars will be taken to the national cemetery at Arlington and the home of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

The Return Trip
On the return trip from Washington the train will run at twilight past the 15 or more miles of coke and iron works approaching Homestead and Pittsburgh, arriving at Chicago in the forenoon of the eighth day after leaving that city.
The B. & O. will place at the disposal of the party the famous club car which has an observation on one end and a buffet on the other; the car used by the interstate commerce commission in its tours of investigation.

COUNTRY SCHOOLS ARE VERY SMALL

Some of the District Institutions of Learning, Are Very Poorly Attended.

Some interesting facts regarding the numerical size of some of the schools in the county are brought out by the annual report which Superintendent Hemingway has compiled regarding the schools in the first district. By his figures it is shown that within the district there are seven schools which have more than ten and less than 16 scholars, and there are two schools which each have five pupils or less. To go to the other extreme there are only three schools which have over sixty pupils each.

Supt. Antidel is today working on the statistics of the second district. Both superintendents are facing a serious difficulty this year in the shortage of teachers. It seems probable that several county schools will be unable to open because of this condition. Only one county school has opened thus far this fall. School No. 7, Beloit, opened last Monday. Others will begin next week.

Automobiles Are Assessed: "If you look under the proper head under the personal property you will find that every automobile in the city is assessed, the Recorder notwithstanding," said Assessor C. B. Conrad this morning. "The autos are assessed under the same head as steam vehicles, naphtha launches, etc. Watches and musical instruments are exempted under certain conditions."

Attention Royal Neighbors: All Royal Neighbors wishing to go to Beloit next Tuesday are requested to meet with Mrs. Lyman Moore, 165 W. Milwaukee street, Saturday evening at 7:30.

Back Tonight: Secretary J. C. Kline of the Y. M. C. A. and the Junior boys who have been camping at Delavan lake are expected home this evening. Several of the boys have already returned. Those who rode out on wheels will probably return on the train. There were sixteen in the party.

TROUT SEASON NEAR THE END

CHANGES IN GAME LAWS THIS YEAR.

ONLY ONE SHIPMENT ALLOWED

Non-Resident Hunters Are Limited—
Packages Must Be Plainly Marked.

The trout season comes to a close on September 1 and will remain closed until the fifteenth of April. All who enjoy a mess of these speckled beauties will have to hurry.

When sportsmen ship game they must have all packages containing fish or game marked to show the contents. This is the requirement of both the laws of Wisconsin and the United States. All game shipped must be accompanied by the shipper who must hold a license duly issued to him. The description of the shipper must tally in every detail with the description in the license.

License Is Untransferable
Any sportsman transferring his license in shipment of game is subject to a heavy penalty. "We must put these violators into the hands of the United States where they are dealt with most severely under the Lacey Act," said Mr. Nelson, the chief deputy fish and game warden.

A resident holding a license may carry with him 25 upland birds or 50 aquatic fowls. A non-resident holding a license may carry with him 50 of either kind, but the shipment is limited to one shipment.

Privilege of Non-Residents
Wisconsin is the only state in the northwest allowing non-resident hunters to carry game out of the state. This accounts for the issuing of so many licenses in Wisconsin to non-residents.

The following are pointers for duck hunters:
No open water shooting outside of the natural covering of reeds and rushes growing above the water.

The number of decoys are limited to 25 and the same are to be marked with the initials of the owner. The decoys are watched personally by the hunter and taken up by him after the day's hunt.

Decoys Limited in Number
This provision promises to be of great help to the hunter as under the old law market hunters would sometimes have as many as 600 decoys and would stake out all of the best shooting grounds and thus keep other hunters away. Now the man who first gets on the ground has a choice of the best site.

Any violation of the duck law will be subject to a fine and the confiscation of boats, guns and decoys which will be seized by the wardens. The duck hunting opens September 1.

COUNTY NEWS

ROCK.

Rock, August 27.—Miss Etta Patterson has returned from her home from Bethel, Wood Co., where she has been attending school for the past three months.

Farmers in this locality are busy harvesting tobacco. Many have been shedding for the past three weeks and in many cases, an excellent crop is reported. Good tobacco seems to be the exception rather than the rule this season, and happy is he who planted his tobacco early, for the early tobacco has done splendidly, while that planted late has not fared so well.

Messrs. Fanning and Clayfoot have finished threshing and rest contented now that their grain is cared for.

Mr. Broghman is kept busy picking cucumbers to send to the canning factory.

Miss Grace Kille of Brodhead, was the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Burr W. Tolles last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson McKleson, spent last week at Oakkosh.

Mr. Cloude Stebbins and son Harry, of Elkhart, were visitors here last week.

Mrs. Maurice Reed and daughter Mary, and Mr. and Mrs. Burr Tolles went on the excursion to the Dells, last Sunday.

Miss Lena Fish of Janesville, was a caller in this vicinity Tuesday.

Mr. Wallace McKleson went to Chicago on a business trip.

Mr. W. M. Tolles is a visitor at his son's home today.

Messrs. Kennedy and Tolles, entertained threshers, Wednesday.

Miss Mary Patterson is expected home this week. She has been in the northern part of the state all summer.

Maurice Reed and sons are busy harvesting their tobacco.

TOWN OF JANESVILLE

Town of Janesville, Aug. 27.—Monday morning, while Fred Elert was tearing down an old building on the Bennett farm, the entire structure became loose and fell to the ground, nearly covering the man up, as it came down. Harry, the 4 year old son, of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bennett was playing about the building and was caught by the falling timbers.

Dr. Palmer was called at once and did what he could for the sufferers. Harry will soon be all right, but it was necessary to take the child to the Palmer hospital in the city.

Mrs. Ruth Pratt and daughter of Madison and grand-daughter of Washington, D. C., are visiting at the home of Thomas Pratt.

Miss Vera Ingle is visiting her friend, Edith Tall in the city.

P. F. Magee and family and A. M. Huey and family took dinner at the home of W. E. Shoemaker last Sunday.

Della and Mildred Lien have returned from their visit with relatives in Beloit.

W. S. Britt, John Turnbull and Fred Lazow had threshers Wednesday.

Mrs. Frank Wells of Footville is visiting with Frank Lowmyer and family.

CLINTON

Clinton, Aug. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Webster celebrated the 17th anniversary of their marriage last Thursday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. H. M. Storey, with whom they are living.

Mr. Webster is in his 93rd year and may be seen on our streets almost any day. Mrs. Webster is not as active as her husband, but her health is remarkable for 91 years.

Nearly 300 took the train from here Tuesday morning for the union Sunday school excursion and picnic at Illinois park north of Rockford.

The day was perfect and everyone seemed in the best of spirits. The park is in an ideal place for a picnic being fitted up with a good supply of seats, tables and swings.

After dinner a number improved the opportunity to visit the assembly. Those who remained enjoyed the ball game and other sports and the long boat ride at 7 o'clock. The party reached home at 3 o'clock and reported a fine time.

No trace has been found of the burglars who robbed our postoffice last week. There is no doubt but that they were professionals, and while the sheriff is confident he knows who they are, it is difficult to locate them.

Mrs. Chas. Hanson visited her mother at Geneva last week.

The Commercial House which has been vacant several weeks is now occupied by Low Larson, who will run the hotel.

Mr. Dahlman moved into the house vacated by Mr. Larson.

Mrs. J. M. Covert has rented her home to Wm. Latta and will go to Chicago next month.

Mrs. Geo. Earle is in Chicago visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. Scott.

Miss Alice Lancaster is visiting Mrs. Eva Tuttle.

Mrs. O. E. Noble has returned from a month's visit with her sister at Sterling, Ill. She says Maud's health is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hamilton will move into their new home next week.

Mrs. L. Cheney of Oberlin, O., is here and will make her home with her daughter.

Rev. Wm. Vaten has accepted a call to the Congregational church at Black Earth, Wis., and left last Saturday to take charge of his new field.

Mrs. R. W. Cheever entertained members of the choir at her Delavan Lake cottage last week. All report a very enjoyable time.

Mrs. F. Hollenbeck will move her millinery goods down town and will occupy the rooms over Northway's store.

Mr. Mussham is building an addition to his home.

FOOTVILLE.

Footville, Wis., August, 29.—Mrs. William Canary is spending a few days in Baraboo with her brother.

Miss Myrtle Strang from Janesville and Miss Bessie McCrea from Chicago are spending a few days with Florence Owen.

There will be a dance in the Footville hall Friday evening August 28 given by the club committee, music by Sitrine band.

Miss Frances Julia of Chicago is the guest of Avis Gould for a few weeks, they gave a party in honor of her Thursday evening, quite a number attending from here.

J. P. Devins, M. D. Owen, E. H. Mattice, F. P. Wells, W. J. Kennedy, Jack Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cory and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Emery Dunbar attended the T. A. and B. picnic at Edgerton last week.

Mrs. Lucy Strang is the guest of Mrs. Sina Schroeder this week.

Miss Blanch Welsh is spending a few weeks in Janesville.

Miss Bessie Kennedy returned last Saturday from a two weeks visit in Edgerton and Milton Junction she also attended the T. A. and B. picnic at Edgerton.

Miss Belle Hammel spent Saturday and Sunday in Footville.

Frank Bunnell and Willie Kennedy made a flying trip to Oregon Sunday.

Mrs. George Devins and two children, of Janesville and Mrs. John McMahon of Huron, South Dakota spent last Wednesday with Mrs. M. Kennedy.

Milton Owen spent three days of last week in Beloit at the fair.

Miss Florence Owen, Myrtle Owen attended the ballgame in Clarke's pasture last Saturday afternoon.

There will be a musical and supper at S. W. Lacey Friday evening August 28, for the benefit of the Christian church. Everyone is invited.

Word was received last week of the death of George Ayers. He was 39 years of age and leaves one brother and an aged mother. His remains came to Footville Thursday, the funeral taking place Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Mr. John Gahagan spent Sunday evening in Brodhead.

Mrs. Will Silverthorn and sister, Agnes spent Sunday with friends in Footville.

Mrs. E. H. Mattice is spending a few days in Magnolia.

Miss Clara Fisher and Will Dixon spent Sunday in Footville.

Mrs. George Devins and two children of Janesville and Mrs. John McMahon of Huron, S. Dakota spent last Wednesday with Mrs. Matt Kennedy.

Milton Owen spent three days of last week in Beloit at the fair.

Miss Florence Myrtle Strang Bessie McCrea, Clifford Owen attended the ball game in Clark's pasture last Saturday afternoon.

There will be a musical and supper at Dr. S. W. Lacey's Friday evening, Aug. 28. For the benefit of the Christian church. Every one come.

PORTER

Porter, Aug. 26.—Mrs. P. Cullen and D. Casey Sr., of Janesville were pleasant callers on Tuesday.

There is some talk of opening a road to the Gubb's Lake. The town board expect to meet Sunday and look into the matter.

Men help in tobacco seem to be plenty at $2.00 a day.

Mrs. N. A. Pound and daughter Eva, of Janesville were callers on Monday.

Nearly everyone is making arrangements to attend the Rock County fair in Evansville next week.

Messdames A. R. Fessenden, O. Fessenden and W. Mosher took advantage of the excursion on Sunday and spent the day at the Dells.

MILTON

Milton, Aug. 28.—The delegation that visited President Clough of the Inturbarian road, at Beloit, this week came home feeling that the prospect for securing the advantages of the proposed extension to Madison was encouraging.

Mr. Clough seemed to appreciate the interest shown by the representatives of Milton and Milton Junction and promised to give their claims careful consideration.

J. S. Fetherston received a telegram Tuesday that his planing mill and contents at Enid, Okla., was destroyed by fire that morning, with but a small amount of insurance his loss will be large. He left for Enid that evening.

On Wednesday, Sept. 2, at high noon in the Seventh-day Baptist church, Leo Ninette Coon and J. Fred Whitford will be united in marriage in the presence of a large number of invited guests.

A. Gifford of Fulton was here Tuesday.

A large delegation of Milton people enjoyed the Lake Geneva excursion Wednesday.

Messrs. McCord and Alexander, of Lima, were in town Tuesday and hired Miss Alice Clarke to teach in their district this winter.

THE OTHER MAN

By FREDERIC REDDALE

Copyright, 1902, by J. P. Lippincott Company.

CHAPTER V.

In due time Rossiter Kane attained the height of his ambition, and became a lauded proprietor in a country where the possession of a few acres is the patent of nobility and gentility, and the "open sesame" to sundry other things.

A charming little estate in Hampshire, consisting of park and woodland, carved out of a corner of the New Forest, with a dainty old house built by Vanbrugh, was on the market, and he promptly secured it. Not the least of its attractions lay in the fact that, although in another county, it was within riding or driving distance of both Denecroft and Gatewood. "The Cedars" was its name, and to celebrate his new ownership Kane determined to give a "pleasant ball" in his accustomed lavish manner of entertaining. With the event itself he had not much concern, but it brought certain matters to a crisis, as he intended it should.

Other things fell out not so entirely to his liking.

On a bright autumn morning Kane rode over to Denecroft, ostensibly to announce the forthcoming function in person, and inquired for Miss Dysart. "This is very kind of you, Mr. Kane," said Stella, after his salutations were made and the object of his call announced.

He bowed his acknowledgments over the little hand, and at her bidding seated himself near by.

"I trust your brother is well?" he inquired.

She started. "Oh, Sir Arthur, you mean? Yes, he is as usual, thank you. When you said my 'brother' it took me by surprise for a moment; all this morning I have been thinking of my poor brother Richard."

"I think I understand," he said simply, eyes and voice full of sympathy.

"We have had no news from him for more than a year," she went on. "Mr. Kane, report says you know South Africa like a book; is it possible you could have met Rick?"

There was a wealth of yearning in her tones, such as Kane would have liked to see evoked on his own account. "South Africa is a wide country, Miss Dysart," he rejoined. "Where was your brother when you last heard from him?"

"At Kimberley, I think."

"Ah! I suppose he went by his own name?" he ventured, and then, in answer to her glance of surprise, implying that no Dysart would stoop to travel under an alias, "because, you know, lots of new chums out there do drop their civilized patronymics, and no one thinks the worse of them in consequence."

"I don't know, I am sure," she replied doubtfully. "Rick never said anything about it."

"You may be certain that if I had ever heard your name out there, Miss Dysart, recent events would prove an undoubted reminder. But I am morally sure I never met your brother. Tell me all you care to—I may be able to help you."

And thus invited, she briefly outlined for him the story of Rick's exile. "It's a common enough story," said Kane. "Hundreds of young Englishmen leave the old country with no better excuse and no better prospects than he had, and after a few ups and downs become successful in one of a dozen ways open to men of courage and conviction. Take my own case," he concluded, smiling.

Her looks brightened, and his cheery words seemed to give her renewed confidence.

"Could you show me his picture?" he continued. "I never forgot a face, and if we have ever met I can tell you in an instant."

"The only photograph I have was taken long before Rick left England, and I am afraid it would not assist your memory, Mr. Kane. But Miss Churchill has one which was done in South Africa less than two years ago, I should think."

"The very thing!" he exclaimed. "I purpose riding over to Gatewood, and will let you know the result."

"I—we—shall be so grateful to you, Mr. Kane, for any news or encouragement. When I sit here talking to you about the Cape it seems as if Rick were not so far away after all!" And she flashed him a dazzling smile through tears which would flow all unbidden at the memory of the exile.

Kane rose as if to go, and Stella rose too. He had started for Denecroft that morning of set purpose to propose to the girl, but the conversation was taking a turn that he had not foreseen, and one which might or might not form a propitious prelude to what he wanted to say.

However, he was not the man to shrink from a slight obstacle, and to leave Denecroft without having spoken his rede would seem too much like a repulse or a defeat. So he determined to make it now or never. But he must not be too precipitate.

Despite his supreme confidence in his lucky star, Kane knew perfectly well that in thus raising his eyes to an alliance with an English girl of rank and fortune the chances were dead against him. A year ago the world did not know his name. Had they met two years ago he shuddered to think of what their relative positions would have been. He knew very well that it was his wealth alone which now enabled him to meet her on even terms, and he realized clearly that unless he could impress his personality and his manhood upon her, mere money would profit him nothing.

Could he make himself indispensable to this gentle and high-born English maiden—he, the erstwhile adventurer and outcast? At least, he could try! It should be the fight of his life! If the way to Stella's heart lay through her regard for the absent and long-lost brother, why, Rossiter Kane could be counted upon to play the sympathetic part desired. So he deftly took up his cue, saying in answer to her last words:

"To say that I am highly honored by your confidence but faintly expresses my sentiments, Miss Dysart. Indeed, I am glad you confided in me, for it shows you do not regard me as an utter outlander."

He paused, and her eyes met his ardent gaze. In that moment, in that glance, the whole of life was changed for these two.

With woman-like intuition she divined his drift, and although up to that time she had not distinctly realized his passionate admiration of her, or that she was being wooed, the instant's discovery of it was, if anything, pleasurable rather than otherwise. But she did not—could not—reply, and Kane took up the burden of his tale.

"Forgive me if I speak of myself," he said. "My life has been a rough one, and I have had neither the leisure nor the desire for the society of women—until lately—until I met you. Then newer and sweeter hopes arose. From the very first moment I loved you with all the strength of my manhood, and I determined, if I might, to win the priceless treasure of your love."

He advanced a pace, and took her unresisting hand in his. It was characteristic of the man that at this crisis he indulged in no special pleading, but went straight to the point.

Stella's golden head sunk lower and lower, until he could not see her face. But the little hand was not withdrawn. Bending over her he went on: "Miss Dysart," he said, "all that I am, all that I hope to be, all that I have, I lay at your feet, but they cannot outweigh my love. Will you be my wife?"

There was no answer. She stood before him, nervously clasping and unclasping her fingers, her head with its aureole of sunny hair so drooped that her face was hid from view. Kane could not see her eyes—a glance into their depths would perchance have apprised him how to proceed, but he was forced to "go it blind," as he would have said concerning some mere business venture.

"I know it looks like cool presumption for a man from nowhere in particular to aspire so high, Miss Dysart," he went on in a deep undertone that she alone could hear. "The prisoner throws himself unreservedly upon the mercy of his judge. I'm unworthy of you in every sense," he said, with that complete self-abasement which the strongest and most unscrupulous men feel when in the presence of a pure and innocent woman, "save that I love you, and you alone. I never said that to a girl before," he continued, as if the thought had just occurred to him that perhaps she might be hesitating for fear that a man of his years was not as heart-free as he was foot-free. "Cannot you give me a little hope?" he urged. "Will you marry me, Stella?"

Stella Dysart was no mere chit of a girl in her teens. Men had made love to her, and even proposed to her, before this, but never the right man. From the first she had been interested in Rossiter Kane. There was a strenuous air about him, the quiet insistence of a "masterful man" who will carry his point in the end, that appeals to every masterless woman.

Now that the question of questions was put and demanded an answer, she was surprised to find that what she had deemed mere friendly feeling and interest really deserved a much nearer and dearer name. She found in her own heart a smoldering response to his appeal which leaped into flame at his behest.

Quietly he waited for her answer. But still the little head was bent. He drew her to him, and caressingly tilted her chin so that she must perforce lift her eyes to his.

Her face was suffused with rosy color, and her eyelashes were wet, but surely they were happy tears, and it was with smiling lips that she whispered as she nestled to his side—

"If you wish it—yes!"

"Wish it! Oh my darling, my queen!" he exclaimed, and his lips met hers in love's first sweet caress.

He was in no haste to be gone now, but led her to a tete-a-tete and took his place beside her.

"I am the happiest man in England," he said fervently, devouring her with his eyes. For answer she breathed a happy sigh.

"Sir Arthur must be told, I suppose," he said tentatively, after an interchange of sweet confessions and confidences.

"Oh, not yet, please," she pleaded. "Not for a few days. I feel so selfish, enjoying all this happiness, when at this moment poor Rick may be in trouble or in danger!"

"Countdown your Rick!" was Kane's inward oburgation, but outwardly he was all sympathy and interest.

"We must find him," he said, in quietly confident tones. "He is my brother now, you know." A rosy blush flooded face and forehead at these words, but timidly seeking his hand she exclaimed:

"If you want to make me sincerely happy and leave no cloud between us, you will find my brother! Then you may speak to Sir Arthur as soon as you like!" nodding her head vivaciously.

"It is a bargain," Kane returned, and with a farewell caress he took his leave, elated, happy, triumphant, a better man in thought and intention than he had ever been before.

Mounting his horse, he rode rapidly through the park to Gatewood, and found Marcha Churchill at home, by whom he was graciously received as a willom acquaintance and now a near neighbor.

After presenting his invitation to the coming ball at The Cedars he broached the second object of his call.

"Miss Dysart was speaking about her brother Richard this morning," he said, "and she wondered if I had ever met him at the Cape. I could not recall him by name, but asked her for a photograph. She sent me here, saying you possessed one taken since he went abroad. May I see it?"

"Surely," she said. "I will get it for you."

The abrupt naming of Richard's name by a comparative stranger unnerved this usually strong and self-contained nature, and her agitation was perceived and noted by Rossiter Kane, who drew his own sapient conclusions.

Marcha rose and went to a side table, saying the while, to cover her show of feeling—

"We were children together, Mr. Kane, and we all love Richard very dearly."

She returned, bearing in her hand a carte-de-visite, which she gave him, saying simply:

"Here is his latest picture. It was taken in Cape Town, as you see, nearly two years ago."

Kane took the bit of pasteboard, and with a ceremonious "Pardon me!" went to the window the better to see. It was lucky for him that he did this, and that his face was turned from Marcha's watchful eyes, quickened by love and eager with hope deferred, for, strong man and iron-willed as he was, Kane staggered and would have fallen but for a timely grasp of the heavy window-curtain.

He held in his hand the picture of the face he remembered only too well—the features of which, distorted in agony, were ever before him, branded on his eyeballs in hues of fire night and day, and which he had last seen for a few tragic moments in a ruddy glare by the Mool river many months before!

The sweat stood on his forehead in great beads, and a mist clouded his vision. But the man's despotic will triumphed, and pulling himself together he faced inward again, his back to the light, and said as quietly as he could:

"No; it is as I thought, Miss Churchill, we never met."

The deliberate, cold-blooded lie scorched his soul, for if his surmise were correct, Richard Dysart was more than life to the proud beauty who confronted him.

"But I will have some inquiries made," he went on, "and perhaps I shall have good news for you soon."

How he managed to make his adieu and get out of the house decently and in order Kane never knew. He found himself astride his horse once more, and cantering down the chestnut avenue leading to the high road. There he let the animal down to a walk, and began to look the appalling situation in the face.

STRONG MAN AND IRON-WILLED AS HE WAS, KANE STAGGERED AND WOULD HAVE FALLEN, BUT FOR A TIMELY GRASP OF THE WINDOW CURTAIN.

"God in Heaven!" he muttered, "I killed him in cold blood, and those two women would hate me for life if they knew!"

Hell itself and the torments of lost souls, of which we read, may be nothing more than the pangs of a guilty and remorseful conscience. Kane's worst enemies—and he had many—would have been satisfied could they have seen him now, racked by unavailing regret, tortured by the thought that the dead body of Richard Dysart must effectually smother him from the only woman he had ever loved.

Astonishing Good News To Such Sufferers.

The D.D.D. Remedy Gives Instant Relief.

PERMANENTLY CURES.

Have you been—or do you know anyone who has been—in a living hell of torture, with a skin disease? Despair usually seizes those so afflicted. Many imagine it is in the blood and too subtle to cure. Doctors have stood baffled and helpless against Eczema. Half of them think its worse forms are blood poison. Ninety-nine cases out of a hundred of manifestations on the skin are purely local—SKIN disease—not BLOOD disease. Healthy blooded people break out as often as any one; the blood has nothing to do with it in most cases. It is a parasite in the skin that spreads. This prescription is today completely clearing away—quickly too—and permanently curing every trace of such parasitic trouble and leaves the skin soft, healthy and perfect. Call at our store and investigate the unquestionable proofs in our possession.

The prescription is a liquid for external application—non-greasy—does not stain or discolor the wearing apparel. It comes under authentic label of the D. D. D. Company of Chicago, who solely compound the prescription for druggists everywhere.

Knox Hats... in Janesville at Achterberg's

NEW Fall blocks and styles in this famous headgear are here—a pleasing fact to those men who are partial to the Knox Hat but who heretofore have been obliged to journey to other cities to procure them as well as to all good dressers.

I have taken the Janesville agency and hereafter the seasonable shapes in plenty will be in stock.

Facts about Knox Qualities and Styles

KNOX styles are copied by other hat makers.

KNOX styles are originated by Knox and are standard.

KNOX name on the inside your hat denotes the highest type of hat style.

KNOX has been the leader of hat makers for over half a century.

KNOX hats never fade or wear dingy.

KNOX hats contain the very best material possible to obtain.

KNOX hats are the cheapest because they outwear other hats and retain their color.
